MEASURES LOST IN FINAL JAM

Farm Relief and Other Bills Go by the Board.

NAVAL PROGRAM HARD HIT

Bill Authorizing Construction of New Cruisers Fails at the Last Moment. Deficiency Appropriation Measure Also Lost in the Shuffle—President's Veto of the Bill Increasing Postal Employees' Pay.

Washington, June 9.—Many important measures failed in the final hours of the session of Congress which ended Saturday night.

Bills that were lost included those for farm relief, to reform reclamation policy of the government, authorizing construction of eight new cruisers and modernization of battleships, and the deficiency appropriation bill, carrying funds to begin operation of the bonus law. Not only did the deficiency bill go down in defeat in the race against time, but a special resolution passed in the last five minutes by the house to make the bonus appropriation available regardless, was lost in the senate.

The postal salaries increase bill, passed by both house and senate by almost unanimous vote, also went by the board when President Coolidge vetoed it on the ground that it was "extravagant."

Plans of the senate Daugherty committee to resume session in midsummer went astray because Chairman Brookhart failed to obtain opportunity to call up an authorization resolution drafted for that purpose. A renewal of the Teapot Dome debate in the senate, growing out of a futile effort by Senator Walsh of Montana to secure approval of the majority report of the oil committee, tied up business during the closing hours.

President Coolidge in vetoing the bill increasing the salaries of postal employees declared large expenditures authorized by the legislation were not justified by the efforts of the administration to reduce taxation. He said he would have approved that part of the bill relating to publicity for campaign contributions if it had stood alone.

Coolidge's Message. In his message the president said: "Government extravagance must stop. The people of the nation are paying all that it is possible for them to pay. I have taken my position in relation to government economy, which I have stated and restated until it is well known. I feel that that position ought to be consistent. I do not see how I can approve the large increase in expenditures of this kind, except on the plea of urgent necessity. It may be that some adjustment would be justified, but an organized effort by a great body of public employees to secure an indiscriminate increase in compensation should have the most searching scrutiny. The needs of the public, the ability of the people to pay, must have some consideration."

More than 100 bills and resolutions were signed by President Coolidge, including the legislative appropriation bill, carrying $14,299,000; the District of Columbia appropriation bill, amounting to $26,455,000; the bill granting public land to the city of Golden, Colo., to obtain a municipal water supply; the bill to authorize an exchange of lands within the state of Washington; the measure to provide for a girls' dormitory at the Fort Lapwai sanitarium, Lapwai, Idaho; an act conferring jurisdiction upon the court of claims to hear, examine, adjudicate and enter judgment in any claims which the Choctaw and Chickasaw Indians may have against the United States; a measure authorizing the erection of a hospital at the national home for disabled soldiers at Santa Monica, Cal.

AT PRISON FARM

Complete Flour and Feed Mill Will Be Erected This Summer.

Columbus, June 9.—Director of Public Welfare John E. Harper announced that the erection of a complete flour and feed mill at the London prison farm will be started at once. The mill will have a capacity of 200 barrels of flour daily, besides equipment that will permit the making of chops and cereal foodstuffs for the hundreds of state-owned cattle, and all kinds of corn products.

Plant Destroyed.

Gallipolis, O., June 9.—The Cheshire Milling company's plant was destroyed by fire with a total loss estimated at $25,000.

BIRTH IN PRODUCTION

Ohio Among the Leading States in Dairy Business of the Country.

Columbus, June 9.—A statement issued by the Ohio Dairy Products' association shows that Ohio has taken an important place in the dairy business of the United States, supplying 4 1/2 per cent of the total milk produced and used in the several classifications. It is pointed out, however, that in contrast with the United States as a whole, which shows an increase in the number of dairy cows, there have been decreasing numbers of dairy cattle in Ohio within the last few years, there being 17,308 fewer in 1923 than in 1920. The cause of this is difficult to explain, except perhaps that the labor situation in Ohio may have been more acute than in other states.

Ohio ranks seventh among the states in the number of cattle owned and fourth in the value of dairy products. This indicates that the net rate to the farmer in Ohio has been much higher per 100 pounds of milk than in other states, and should stimulate an increase in production. Ohio ranks fourth in the production of butter, fourth in fluid milk, fourth in ice cream, seventh in cheese and eighth in condensed milk.

HYNICKA SAID TO FAVOR FESS

Ohio Delegation to Name Successor to Former.

SEVERAL POSSIBILITIES LOOM

Brush of Salem Reported to Have the Backing of Senator Willis and Harry Daugherty—Maeschke, Cuyahoga County Leader; Walter Brown, Hoke Donithen and Carmel Thompson Also in the Running.

Cleveland, June 9.—A successor to Rud K. Hynicka of Cincinnati as the Ohio member of the Republican national committee will be selected by the Ohio delegation to the Republican national convention, which meets tomorrow.

There are several possibilities, including Senator S. D. Fess, Louis F. Brush of Salem, Hoke Donithen of Marion, Walter F. Brown of Toledo and Maurice Maeschke, the Cuyahoga county Republican leader. It is said that Hynicka favors Fess as his successor. Fess has intimated that if the party did not think it improper for him to take the honor he would accept.

Brush, one of the present owners of President Harding's Marion Star, is an outspoken candidate for the membership. His candidacy will conflict with that of Hoke Donithen, state manager of President Coolidge's interests. Brush is said to have the backing of Senator Willis and Harry M. Daugherty. Maurice Maeschke has been an outstanding figure in Ohio Republican affairs for many years, as the real head of the Cuyahoga county organization, just as Hynicka was with the Hamilton county organization, and yet no honor of this kind was ever handed to him. Some of his friends feel that he should be so honored and Maeschke is said to feel the same way about it himself, though he has organized no campaign to get it.

Walter F. Brown has been mentioned as a "safe man" to represent the Republicans of Ohio on the national committee, and no doubt he would be willing to take the honor. Colonel Carmel A. Thompson also is mentioned in connection with the position.

At the Republican national committee meeting there was demonstration of party harmony and an expression of gratitude to the officers of the national committee who are leaving the battlefield. Before it finished with its contest work the committee, by rising vote, adopted a resolution of thanks and appreciation to John T. Adams, chairman; George B. Lockwood, secretary, and Fred W. Upham, treasurer, all of whom are retiring. Offered by National Committeeman Remmell of Arkansas, the resolution recited that Chairman Adams, and his associates as well, had served without pay, rendered conspicuous party service and won the friendship, respect and admiration of their fellow-laborers.

G. T. Taylor and Wayman Wilkerson of Memphis, Tenn., were seated as delegates from the Tenth Tennessee district over J. M. Johnson and H. O. True, because it developed that the faction represented by Johnson had proposed to exclude negroes from participation in the party convention.

MEET AT CEDAR POINT

State Hospital and Other Associations to Hold Joint Convention.

Cedar Point, O., June 9.—Hospital superintendents, trustees, members of medical staffs and others connected with hospital management in Ohio will meet here Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of this week for the tenth annual convention of the Ohio Hospital association. More than 150 delegates are expected to attend. Meeting jointly with the Hospital association, the Ohio Dietetic association will hold its third annual convention. Tuberculosis hospital superintendents in Ohio also will meet here for their quarterly conference. Twenty-five centers supplying hospitals in Ohio will have exhibits at the convention of their products. Wednesday Dr. John E. Monger, state director of health, is scheduled to address the convention on "The Relation of Hospitals to the State Department of Health."

DOINGS IN OHIO

Candidates Weigh In.

Columbus, June 9.—Hamilton G. Deweese of Columbus filed for the nomination for state treasurer. Deweese, one of the state managers for the McAdoo campaign, was a candidate for the same nomination two years ago. Thomas H. Morrow of Cincinnati, assistant district attorney and veteran of the world war, filed as a candidate for attorney general. Dennis F. Dunlavy of Ashtabula is in and B. F. McDonald, state prohibition director, is expected to file this week, insuring the Democrats a three-cornered fight.

Charged With Arson.

Lancaster, O., June 9.—Heber W. George, 30, road worker, was bound over to the grand jury under bond of $1,000 on a charge of arson, after confessing to pouring kerosene over the floors of his home during an electrical storm and then setting it afire. Insurance carried on the building amounted to considerably more than the estimated value, it is alleged.

To Ask for New Trial.

Cleveland, June 9.—Counsel for Mrs. Emma Colavito, convicted on a charge of first degree murder in connection with the death of Marino Costanzo four years ago, declared they would file a motion for a new trial. Pending disposition of the motion, Common Pleas Judge Frank C. Phillips deferred sentence.

To Send Seven Delegates.

Columbus, June 9.—At the state convention of the Farmer-Labor party it was decided that Ohio should have seven delegates to the national Farmer-Labor national convention at St. Paul on June 17. The meeting here was called by Scott Wilkins of Lima, state chairman of the Farmer-Labor party.

Charged With Rifling Mails.

Upper Sandusky, O., June 9.—Porter Hill, 22, mailing clerk at the post office here, is charged with rifling registered mail. He was arrested by postoffice inspectors here and when searched was found, it is alleged, to have $400 in cash and $200 in liberty bonds in his possession.

Given Life Term.

Springfield, O., June 9.—Clyde Fent was sentenced to serve a life term in the Ohio penitentiary following his conviction on a charge of second degree murder. Fent was tried for the slaying of Charles E. Jones, farmer, during a quarrel over the pasturing of a cow.

Streams Out of Bonds.

Columbus, June 9.—Heavy rains yesterday forced many streams in central Ohio out of bounds. Lowlands were submerged and highways flooded in many sections. Small bridges and trestles were washed out and crops damaged.

Negro Shot.

Cincinnati, June 9.—A negro registered as James Woody, 42, is in a hospital here with a bullet in his right lung, inflicted while he was attempting to force a window at the home of Fred Penker, Jr., a garage employee.

Drug Store Robbed.

Cincinnati, June 9.—Two unmasked men entered the drug store of Francis J. Bokman, held up a woman clerk and the proprietor at the point of revolvers, took $125 from the cash register and made their escape in an automobile.

LOWDEN WOULD DECLINE HONOR

Not Candidate for Vice Presidential Nomination.

ISSUES FORMAL STATEMENT

Booms Noted For Senator Borah, Secretary Hoover, Charles G. Dawes, Senator Curtis, Dr. Marion Burton and Others For Second Place on the Ticket—Platform Discussed by the Leaders at Cleveland.

Cleveland, June 9.—Former Governor Frank O. Lowden in a formal statement punctured his boom for the Republican vice presidential nomination. He said:

"I can be of more service to the country through the activities in which I am now engaged than I could be as vice president. If I were to step aside now my associates believe it would seriously cripple the work of those organizations. I am not unmindful of the importance of the high office of vice president. However, since my retirement from public office, three years ago, I have become deeply interested in many farmer organizations. As a result of my own experience in farming I am convinced that agriculture must be organized if it is to go forward successfully in this modern organized world. I am giving a great deal of my time to these various organizations, and if I continue to do so I am assured by those most competent to speak that I shall be rendering a real service to the agricultural interests of the country, and therefore to the country as a whole."

Lowden's statement leaves the vice presidential problem still to be solved. There are booms for Senator Borah, despite the fact that the senator disowns it; for Secretary of Commerce Hoover, for Charles G. Dawes of Chicago, for Senator Curtis of Kansas, and for Dr. Marion Leroy Burton, president of the University of Michigan, who will place President Coolidge in nomination.

Charles B. Warren, ambassador to Mexico, who will head the resolutions committee, is discussed as one of the vice presidential possibilities, although there was no organized boom working for him. Warren declared that the party platform would be drafted in this city. The platform, he said, might not be reported to the convention before Thursday, the day for nominations.

According to Senator Watson of Indiana, there will be no difficulty in harmonizing the views of President Coolidge with those of the senate. "The whole thing will be ironed out without friction," said he. "When we are so near together there will not be any fuss." The line of argument for consolidating opinion is that the party has declared for entering a world court; that the country has declared against entering the league of nations and that the country is ready to enter the world court if its participation can be surrounded with reservations to guarantee no connection with the league.

CHALLENGES TESTIMONY

Broker Underleider Sends Letter to Daugherty Committee.

Columbus, June 9.—Samuel Ungerleider, head of the firm of Ungerleider & Company, local brokers, in a letter sent to Senator Smith W. Brookhart, chairman of the senate Daugherty investigating committee, challenges the testimony offered by several witnesses who have appeared before that body. Ungerleider says: "The statement of Cecil H. Kerns that I ever discussed with him matters relating to the handling of whisky or whisky permits or 'about my political influence' in Cleveland, Columbus, Washington or elsewhere is false in every line and detail. Concerning his statement that I was endeavoring to obtain permits through Director Russell, let me say that I do not know Director Russell and never had any conference with him or any agent connected with his office. I never applied for any permit for the withdrawal of liquor and never procured any such permits."

Bootleg Plot Alleged.

Cleveland, June 9.—Federal investigation into what was believed a gigantic bootleg plot, organized by Canadian interests and seeking to interest Cleveland capital, was ordered by District Attorney A. E. Bernstein. A letter discovered by federal agents outlines a plan of rum running between Montreal and Cleveland, Bernstein said.

FARM VALUES UNCHANGED

Real Estate in Logan County Municipalities Given a Boost.

Columbus, June 9.—Total tax duplicate was increased approximately 8 per cent as a result of the reappraisers' work in Logan county, reports just received at the offices of the state tax commission here disclose.

Results in that county, which largely is agricultural, seem to bear out the contention made by officials of farmers' organizations, that one of the big reasons for the poverty-stricken condition of most municipalities in the state has been the failure to reappraise real estate.

The farmers have contended that the city folks have been going ahead, building fine buildings, paved streets, new lighting systems, etc., but have not taken cognizance of the fact that all of these improvements have increased the value of their property.

Logan county, of course, largely is agricultural. Nevertheless, results of the reappraisal there will be duplicated, it is believed, in other counties in the state, where similar work is going on.

Under the old appraisal, real estate included within incorporated municipalities in Logan county was valued at $8,658,840. This has been increased in the new appraisal to $12,573,580. Farm property, on the other hand, was valued at $24,033,840, and was raised only to $24,984,780 in the new figures.

FAVORS REVISION OF VOLSTEAD ACT

Governor Smith Aims Views in Letter to Liberty League.

New York, June 9.—In a letter to Chairman D. R. Browne of the self-determination league of liberty Governor Al Smith declared he favored revision of the Volstead act.

The governor said he would permit states so disposed to legalize the sale of light wines and beer. He continued:

"The clause making one-half of 1 per cent the legal maximum of alcoholic content was written into the Volstead act by the Anti-Saloon league agents, to whom I referred, as 'fanatical dregs.' I have not changed my attitude towards them any more than I have towards the 'fanatical weeds.'"

"I maintain that the present hypocritical attitude toward the whole question of prohibition will be greatly relieved by having congress fix a minimum alcoholic content based on science and sound reasoning, thereafter leaving every state to enact any statute it pleases with regard to regulation of the traffic in light wines and beer within that alcoholic content, so that the state that desires strict prohibition may have it and the state that desires light wine and beer within the alcoholic content prescribed by congress may also have what it desires."

"A reasonable and practical change in the Volstead law which would honestly serve the cause of temperance would make a valuable contribution to public action against hard liquors, which are undoubtedly put under the ban by the language of the eighteenth amendment."

Governor Smith also declared he believed the Ku Klux Klan to be contrary to the principles on which the country is founded.

Donahy Welcomes Republicans.

Columbus, June 9.—Official recognition of the Republican invasion of Ohio was taken by Governor Donahy, who issued a proclamation of welcome to the visiting delegates to the Republican national convention at Cleveland. "As governor of Ohio, I am proud that Ohio was selected as the convention state of one of our great national parties," Governor said. "Voicing what I know to be the sentiment of all the people of Ohio, I welcome these delegates, alternates and visitors soon to assemble for the high projects now at hand."

FICKARDT'S ROUP AND CHOLERA DROPS

On May 7, 1924, I called on Elmer Doner, Ashville, R. F. D. No. 1, and he told me the following:—

I bought four hundred (400) chicks of a hatchery and while there I bought some tablets to prevent disease or cure them if they were sick. Very soon the chicks began to die, I tried the tablets that I had obtained at the hatchery. I then bought other tablets liquids and powders, all nationally advertised remedies, but none of them did any good and my chicks kept on dying until I had lost 250.

A friend of mine told me of Fickardt's Roup and Cholera drops, at that time I had ten sick chicks in a pen separated from the well stock and I really considered them as good as dead.

I began to use Fickardt's Roup and Cholera drops with all my chicks, both well and sick. Two of the sick ones died, the other eight recovered and I have not lost any others since I began to use Fickardt's Roup and Cholera drops over a month ago.

I would have probably thought that the disease had run its course if it had not been for the fact that these that were sick recovered, but seeing the sick ones get well has convinced me that Fickardt's Roup and Cholera drops cured them.

Meskwaki Tribe Bought Its Own Land in Iowa

The Meskwaki originally were a Wisconsin tribe, but now are living on a reservation in Tama, Iowa, being the only Indians in Iowa.

Some years ago the government granted them a tract of land in Kansas. They tried living on it, became dissatisfied and returned to Iowa, where they purchased their own land and formed a colony.

The Meskwaki are a very primitive tribe, but in the last ten years have advanced to the stage where the brave will go out and perform manual labor. They figure quite largely in the canning industry, and are to be seen going to work in automobiles that are the envy of the whites.

These Indians never were known to send a visitor away hungry. The average Meskwaki will walk a mile and visit two weeks at the home of a friend. Squaws of the tribe are very subservient and patient, and never complain when hubby drags home a raft of company for dinner. Instead they pour additional water in the soup and perhaps roast another chicken or two.

It is not an infrequent occurrence for visitors to appear from out the woods in every direction just as a Meskwaki meal is being served, and if there isn't enough to eat, Mrs. Indian must prepare enough.—Detroit News.

Berlin cats which stray beyond their own thresholds must hereafter be muzzled, according to a new police decree.

An unmuzzled Tabble or Tom found on the street or even in the front or back yards of their homes will be shot immediately, says the edict, whether the time is night or day.

HERRICK
DRY AIR SYSTEM
REFRIGERATOR

The Big Difference In Refrigerators

The main object of any refrigerator, of course, is the preservation of foods. The refrigerator that will keep foods in perfect condition longest is naturally the refrigerator you want—provided it doesn't increase your ice bills.

The Herrick answers those requirements with facts—not claims. And it does even more. It actually decreases your ice bills while giving you more effective food preservation.

And why? Simply because the Herrick is far more than an ice box—far more than a cold storage place. It is built on the scientifically demonstrated principle that more than merely cold air is necessary to keep foods in good condition for any great length of time.

Perhaps the biggest essentials to scientifically correct refrigeration are—

- No. 1. Circulation of cold dry air.
- No. 2. Effective insulation.
- No. 3. Air-tight construction.

That the Herrick has these necessary essentials is a demonstrated fact. Many proofs of the truth are visible even to the least informed purchaser. Others are hidden within the walls of the refrigerator, but nevertheless there, performing their functions so important to good health and economy.

“We hold these truths to be self-evident: that all men are created equal; that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights; that among these are life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness. That, to secure these rights, governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed; that, whenever any form of government becomes destructive of these ends, it is the right of the people to alter or to abolish it, and to institute new government, laying its foundation on such principles, and organizing its powers in such form, as to them shall seem most likely to effect their safety and happiness. Prudence, indeed, will dictate that governments long established, should not be changed for light and transient causes; and, accordingly, all experience hath shown, that mankind are more disposed to suffer, while evils are sufferable, than to right themselves by abolishing the forms to which they are accustomed. But, when a long train of abuses and usurpations, pursuing invariably the same object, evinces a design to reduce them under absolute despotism, it is their right, it is their duty, to throw off such government, and to provide new guards for their future security.—Such has been the patient sufferance of these colonies; and such is now the necessity which constrains them to alter their former systems of government.”

Quebracho Bark Valuable.
Quebracho bark, one of the chief exports of the Argentine, will tan leather at least three times as fast as the bark of the oak or the hemlock, and in less than ten years fortunes have been made by investing in quebracho lands. Nearly 1,000,000 tons of the wood, or the dry extract, are sent to the United States and Europe annually. The growth of the tree is of the slowest, and it is estimated that 1,000 years is required for it to reach maturity.

FAST TIME.
This is truly the age of regulation of all things by man-made law, and its enforcement oftentimes results in interminable confusion.
When the sun is compelled to rise an hour earlier, there is grave danger that it will meet the sun just returning from the dance.
The sun has gone along for thousands of years in the old way ordained by the Ruler of the Universe, and, now, mere man interferes and commands him to speed up. The argument is made that if Joshua of old could put on the brakes and bring the mighty orb to a full stop in his time, his brother of 1924 can step on the accelerator and make him speed up one little hour.

Small wonder, then, that with the speed mania, the radiator "busted" and the heavens have been shedding such copious tears.
You may be able to reverse the laws of man and get away with it, but when you run counter to the immutable laws of nature, you must expect always to be brought back to sanity with a jerk.
Personally, we have too much respect for the established order of things to attempt to disturb the natural laws which have been in force for so long a time. We prefer to have the sun notify us when to get up, rather than that we should presume to dictate to him when to rise and shine and when to set and hide his face.

The city council has passed an ordinance making Eastern Standard time the legal time for the city of Circleville; which means, unless existing schedules are changed, that our people should advance their clocks by just one hour; but it does not necessarily follow that they are required to get up in the middle of the night to begin their daily toil, nor does it mean they must retire to their beds in the middle of the afternoon in the sweltering heat.

All the agitation about Daylight Savings time or Fast time is brought about by the people in a vain attempt to fool themselves. This they may succeed in doing, but we have serious doubts as to their ability to fool the chickens—the feathered ones—or to chase the morning dews off the fields and meadows before the accustomed time as registered by the sun.

In view of the fact that Eastern time has been adopted by our neighboring towns; Columbus, Lancaster and Chillicothe it might be advisable to change our clocks in order to avoid confusion, but it will not be necessary to change our mode of living.

Ours is a farming community, and our city is dependent upon our country brethren and it would seem the part of wisdom for us to change our schedules to conform to theirs. In other words, when the change comes, would it not be well to change our hours, as recorded by the clock? For instance, if we now begin business at 7, we could begin at 8 and the change would leave us just where it found us.
We can make this change, but the farmer cannot by adjusting schedules of work, change the time when the dews of morning leave the fields and permit him to harvest his crops.

"I don't mind you writing gush letters in office hours," explained her employer, "but the management of the building complains that you put so much love in them that they block up the mail chute."

WILLIAM FAST
Charged With Possession, Transportation and Selling Intoxicating Liquor.
William Fast, of Derby, is in the toils of the law. Last Saturday he was placed under arrest by Sheriff Robert J. Young and was brought to this city where he had a preliminary hearing before Judge Adkins of the probate court and was released on bond of $1,000 for his appearance Monday afternoon.
Several weeks ago The Washington Daily Herald carried the item that Pickaway county was unloading whisky on residents of Fayette county and this charge got on the nerves of Sheriff Young and he got busy. About a week ago Ezra Numley, of Fayette county got all "lit" up and "bet" up on some concoction he had bought over about Derby. It was so good that he told some of his dry friends in that neighborhood where he got it. The sheriff was communicated with and last Saturday he sought an interview with Mr. Numley. In company with the deputy sheriff of Fayette county, Mr. Numley went to Derby and was given the money to buy some liquor. He procured the booze, paying for it with a marked ten dollar bill, given him by Sheriff Young. Mr. Fast readily fell into the trap set for him, as he wanted the money.
He will have to face three charges when he comes up for trial; possession, selling and transporting. His nephew, Walter Fast, is also charged with the same offense and it is thought that he will be held to answer to the charges.

Red Brick Popular in Finland.
The chief building materials in the larger towns and trade centers of Finland are red brick and cement. Of late, lime and brick have been commonly used and there are two modern brick works. Cement stones or blocks are also used, but to no great extent. The common material is red brick, made in a great number of larger and smaller brick works. Normally, the more important works produced about 40,000,000 bricks annually. At present the supply is about exhausted.

HEALTH CAMPAIGN
MADE BY U.S. NAVY
Medical Officers Spread
Message of Hygiene.

During the fiscal year 1923 the medical department of the navy continued its work of former years in connection with the native populations of Guam, American Samoa, the Virgin Islands and Hayti, and was instrumental in promoting various measures designed to further the public health of these islands, according to the annual report of the surgeon general at Washington.
Improvement of the living conditions of the natives of the Virgin Islands has been brought about by various factors, the report says, among them being the installation of an adequate water supply and a modern sewage system, which is beginning to supersede the collection of water in sanitary cisterns and water barrels, and the objectionable cesspools formerly in use; the careful sanitary supervision of the towns, including markets, abattoirs and milk supply, and adequate provision for the care of the indigent sick.
Typhoid Fever Wiped Out.
Typhoid fever, which formerly was very prevalent in the Virgin Islands, has been abolished by requiring all persons residing on the islands between the ages of five and forty-five to be inoculated with anti-typhoid vaccine. Smallpox has likewise been prevented by the vaccination of the entire population, the report states. An improvement in infant and maternal welfare was produced by the establishment of a maternity ward and a children's ward at the municipal hospital in St. Thomas, thus providing means for the removal of expectant mothers and sick children from homes "where ignorance, filth and extreme poverty threatened health and life." At the same time, it is stated, a training school for native nurses was established, and systematic instruction, both theoretical and practical, is now carried on by navy medical officers and nurses.

Another step undertaken to promote health in the Virgin Islands was the formulation of a sanitary code. It has been drawn up with every regard for the needs of a small island community, the report says, and has proved exceedingly helpful in the administration of health activities. The report also points out that before the transfer of the Virgin Islands to the United States no steps had been taken to control mosquito breeding. As soon as the change in sovereignty was effected those measures which had proved of value in the Canal zone, somewhat modified to meet local conditions, were instituted, and mosquitoes were prevented from breeding in the towns.

Activities at Guam.
"In conjunction with the naval hospital at Guam two hospitals—the Susana hospital and the Tuberculosis hospital—and several dispensaries are maintained for the native inhabitants of Guam," continues the report. "During the past year 3,417 patients were admitted to these hospitals and 33,824 patients received treatment at the dispensaries.
"There are at present fifteen native women under instruction at the training school for native nurses conducted in connection with the Susana hospital. The course in nursing in this school is largely under the supervision of the chief nurse of the naval hospital. Some of these native women have acquired a fair degree of efficiency and have become very useful about the wards, especially among the native female patients and the native children. Several of the graduates of this school have become fairly proficient midwives and practice successfully in their native villages.
"The treatment of native children infested with parasites has been vigorously prosecuted during the year with good results. There are eleven dispensaries in different parts of the island, six of which are conducted by members of the hospital corps of the navy, while the balance are administered by native school teachers who have been trained for this purpose by naval medical officers.

Dental Clinic for Natives.
The Samoan hospital continues to do splendid work and is gradually gaining the confidence of the people. To this institution 481 patients were admitted during the year, requiring 4,404 days of treatment. In the dispensary 9,902 patients received treatment. At this hospital a dental clinic for Samoan people is held twice a week. As in Guam, a training school for native nurses is conducted in connection with this hospital. Since the establishment of this school in 1914, nineteen native women have been graduated, and fourteen are now under instruction. Ten of the graduate nurses are employed as visiting nurses in the various native communities. These nurses administer simple drugs, attend confinement cases, instruct mothers in care of babies, and see that those who need treatment are sent to the hospital.
The report says that a recent survey of Samoa revealed 2,500 cases of yaws, a type of skin disease, upon which a campaign was immediately started to eradicate it by the administration of neosarsphenamin. More than 7,000 doses of this preparation were administered and regulations were put into effect to bring about the early treatment of all new cases and the destruction of flies, which are stated to be the principal agents in the transmission of yaws in Samoa, and to prevent the introduction of the disease from foreign ports.

Flies Cause of Blindness.
A severe type of conjunctivitis is very prevalent in Samoa, says the report, adding that its effects may be noticed in every village, where can be seen men, women and children afflicted with blindness as a result of the disease. A recent survey revealed 163 cases in a population of 3,184, and more than 500 cases of total blindness. In the breadfruit season, however, when flies are exceptionally prevalent, more than 50 per cent of the population are afflicted with this disease of the eye each year, according to the report. Recent investigations by naval medical officers show that it is caused by a gram negative diplococcus. It is believed that, like yaws, this disease is spread by means of flies, and measures have accordingly been instituted to control it by early treatment of the inflammation and the prevention of fly breeding, the report states.
In connection with its discussion of health matters in Hayti the report describes a campaign instituted by naval medical officers on duty with the marines stationed there, to bring about a reduction in the high rate of malarial disease. This campaign involved the administration of quinine to the natives living in proximity to Marine corps camps, on the assumption that every adult native had been infected with malaria at some time and was a potential carrier of the disease, even though not ill with the fever. As a result of this campaign, a sharp decline in the number of malaria cases among marines is reported.
"The prevention of malaria among troops operating in tropical countries by the administration of quinine to the natives of surrounding areas is possible," declares the report, "but the difficulties in carrying out the routine of the treatment are perfectly obvious to any one who has lived in the tropics and dealt with ignorant negroes. However, the plan is feasible, and the procedure has been proved practicable by the naval medical officers on duty in Hayti."

"Bouledogue" Collar
Latest in Neckwear
An entertainment of rare quality is promised when Viola Dana's newest picture for Metro, "The Heart Bandit" comes to the Metropolitan theater starting on Monday. The flapper star is said to make full use of her opportunities for comedy and pathos in this story which tells what happens when a girl bandit accidentally breaks into the home of a kindly old lady and is forced thru many circumstances, to stay there.
The situations arising from the unusual association form the basis for many scenes of thrills and comedy, the girl getting into several scrapes that seem impossible of solution until a new element—love enters in.
Milton Sills, the popular leading man of a host of big productions, appears opposite Miss Dana. Others in the cast include Wallace MacDonald Gertrude Claire, Bertram Grassby and DeWitt Jennings. "The Heart Bandit" was directed by Oscar Apfel and photographed by John John Arnold. Fred Kennedy Myton wrote the story, which was adapted for the screen by Tom J. Hopkins.

"How do I look, doggie, with your collar on?" asks Miss Florenz Tamara, the dancer, of her pet Pekie as she appears in the latest importation from Paris, the "bouledogue" collar, first introduced in the French metropolis by the Dolly sisters, who later took the style with them to London. It came to New York by way of San Francisco, whence Miss Tamara hails. The approved model, as first introduced in Paris, is of black and white leather, with a double fringe of stiff badger hairs, a gold name plate and padlock. It contains all except the bark, and the feminine wearer is supposed to supply that, especially when her husband, if she has one, growls.

He used the simple grocery terms
That served him time again.

Your hair like the celery's top,
Your lips are red as the finest beet,
The prize of the farmer's crop.

Your neck is like asparagus,
It is so long and round;

Such is the state of my bean."

HEAVY RAINFALL

Indications Point to One of the Biggest Floods in Years.

In the past twenty-four hours, two inches of water has fallen in this city. The rain this morning was the heaviest downpour that we have had so far this season and it was accompanied by a strong wind. It became so dark, that autos were compelled to turn on their lights.

Chillicothe was visited by a severe rain and wind storm Sunday afternoon. A number of shade trees near the court house were blown down.

At Columbus in the past twenty-four hours there has been nearly three inches of rain. A terrific storm accompanied by lurid lightning visited that city Sunday evening. The magnificent display of electricity in the northern skies was seen in this city and lovers of the beautiful sight watched the play of the elements for a half hour or more. It was awe inspiring.

Indications, said weather observer, Dr. H. R. Clarke, is that we will have one of the biggest floods seen here in years. The river is now eleven feet in the channel and he has been advised from Columbus that the river will boom and send the water over the Williamsport pike by night.

Mrs. Elizabeth Deckert Dead.

Mrs. Elizabeth Deckert, aged 72, a former resident of this county, near Orient, died at the home of her son, W. E. Deckert, in Columbus, Friday, June 6.

One son and three daughters survive. They are W. E. Deckert, Mrs. Lola Sprouse and Mrs. May Sullivan, of Columbus and Mrs. Vera Uitz, of Mobile, Alabama, and fifteen grandchildren. Of her immediate family there are living two brothers.

The deceased was a member of the King avenue Methodist Episcopal church, Columbus. Funeral services were held Sunday and interment was made in the Darbyville cemetery.

CHILDREN'S DAY SERVICES.

The Children's day exercises at the Morris U. B. church were very appropriate and the program well rendered. Great credit is due the committee and the large audience showed their appreciation. The need of the hour is more work for the children by the Sunday school and a proper estimate of the eternal value of proper training. The moral and spiritual values must be emphasized in connection with educational work, both Sunday and day school.

AID MEETING.

The Ladies' Aid of the Dresbach U. B. church will hold their monthly meeting Thursday evening, June 12, at the home of Frank and Margaret Karshner on the Kingston pike. This is the time when the husbands and the gentlemen friends meet with the ladies for a social gathering and you are invited.

Efficacy of Tar Water

Rev. George Berkeley, bishop of Cloyne, was an ethereal philosopher who set out to undermine the stolid materialism of his time, and two hundred years ago he maintained that matter cannot be conceived to exist, the only possible substance being mind. "The material world," he said, "is nothing but a complex of ideas which come and go with an order and coherence that constitute the law of nature."

The good bishop sometimes descended to earth to discuss the simple, mundane things. He had a curious obsession regarding the medicinal efficacy of tar water, which was much used in his time as a drink beneficial to all human ailments. "Tar water," the bishop held, "is of a nature so mild and benign and so proportioned to the human constitution as to warm without heating, to cheer but not inebriate."—Detroit News.

Shocked

"In some parts of the Orient," remarked Hoffy, "a man says three times to his wife, 'I divorce you,' and the deed is done. I was telling this in a smoker and one gentleman present was horrified."

"The good man was shocked, eh?" "I don't know how good he was, but he was shocked all right. He was a divorce lawyer."

"Oh, G'wan Widja!"

"Yesterday all the street cars in the city stopped."

"What was wrong?" "Why, so the people could get on and off."

ADVANTAGES IN WATERWAY

Professor Sherman Discussed Central Route at Chamber of Commerce.

Would Connect the World's Largest Coal and Ore Deposits—Cheapest to Construct and the Question is Now Being Investigated by Army Engineers.

At a meeting of the Columbus chamber of commerce forum at the Chittenden hotel, Professor C. E. Sherman discussed the advantages of the proposed Central Ohio waterway, which will be a portion of the most direct water route between the greatest ore and coal deposits in the world. Maps and special charts were used by Professor Sherman in explaining the project. The following is a brief report of his discussion:

Beginning at Sandusky Bay, which can be made the largest sheltered harbor on Lake Erie, the route proceeds south by slack-watering the Sandusky river with 13 dams, reaching the summit-level pool about five miles south of Upper Sandusky.

The low-water elevation of this summit level reservoir or pool is 890 feet above sea level. Provision for 10 or 15 feet of rise in the level can easily be made. Full or empty, the summit level stretch of 40 miles lies so low that water from an area of 1230 square miles naturally drains into it. As many more square miles of drainage a basis can be turned into the pool by short diverting cuts. These diversions are shorter than those needed on any other route.

Proceeding south from the southern end of the summit level, the route uses the gorge of the Scioto, slack-watered by a series of six dams to Columbus at pool elevation 700 feet above sea. This gorge section of the Scioto is ideal for slack water navigation.

From Columbus the Scioto would be slack watered south by 15 dams and locks to Portsmouth on the Ohio river at pool elevation 483 feet above sea. The total number of dams and locks across the state is thus 34. It is probable that final plans would reduce this number.

No other project so well combines national transportation benefits with local conservancy and flood control benefits. Were the latter to be charged to the local communities so benefited, it is believed that the central riverway is the cheapest route to construct. This question is now being investigated by the army engineers.

The surprising advantages of the central riverway are as follows:

1. The route lies so nearly on a "bee line" from the coal fields to Detroit river (the great thorfare of coal and ore) that the central riverway might well be called the 83d meridian line. (See any good atlas or large scale map.)

2. The only wholly artificial channel needed to complete the route is nine miles of canal connecting the Sandusky and Scioto rivers at the summit. This is in great contrast to other proposed routes.

3. This short summit canal on route three crosses the Lake Erie-Ohio river divide at a lower elevation than any other route across the state.

4. The largest volume of water for the summit level pool can be collected on this route, thus giving it the largest future carrying capacity of any possible route between Lake Erie and Ohio river.

5. Fewer bridges across the route and better clearances under the bridges are feasible than on any other line. At little expense, draw spans can be avoided entirely across the state.

The foregoing statements are surprising to most people because little has heretofore been heard of the Central Ohio route. Those who are looking for the most ample connection between the two great inland river systems of the continent—the St. Lawrence and Mississippi—will do well to examine carefully the proposed central riverway. It is the best of all possible connections, considered from all viewpoints, in spite of the fact that it crosses Ohio at its widest part.

In for It.

An Irish conductor had the misfortune to run his car over an old man who had a bottle of bluing inside his coat. Jumping from his car and seeing the fluid gathering in a pool on the street, he cried to his friend, "Finnegan, it'll go hard wid us. We've killed one o' them blue bloods."—Boston Transcript.

JUNE IS JUNE.

June is June and my heart is young—I heard today, from a bitter tongue, A doleful story of wedded life; Of bickering, boredom, endless strife The tale was true, and the hurt was deep, Yet the moon is full and I cannot sleep; So I'm deaf to the wail of that soul love-stung— Ah, June is June and my heart is young!

June is June and my heart is young—I have known many whose lives were flung To ravaging lions, thru love like mine That seems, this moment, a thing divine.

I've read the chronicles o'er and o'er How life had mocked at the poets' lore Yet here's Dan Cupid, his bow unstrung— Well, June is June, and my heart is young!

June is June and my heart is young— Not every heart that loves is wrong! I have known many who found life sweet! Whose love has made it a thing complete.

So here in the moonlight I turn to him Surrendered quite to his tender whim, Believing the words from his honeyed tongue— Lo, June is June, and my heart is young!

New Lamps for Old

"New lamps for old! New lamps for old!"
Unto my heart I cried;
My heart that burned white candles at
The shrine of dreams denied.

"Put on the tapers of regret
And kindle in their place
The light of hope, that shining through Makes glory on the face."

Too long, too long, remembered loss
Has fed a broken pride—
New lamps for old! New lamps for old!"
Unto my heart I cried.

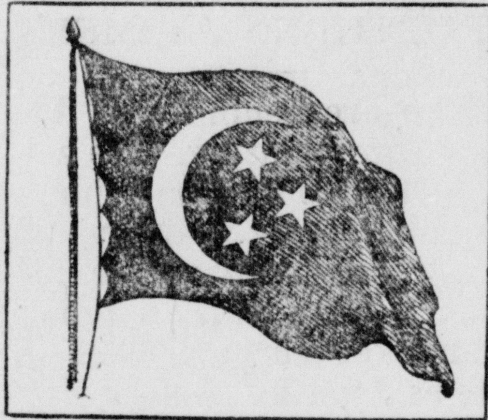

As one who leaves familiar ways
For untried paths without,
Half eager, half reluctantly,
I blew my candles out.

Then swift upon that inner shrine
A sudden glory shone,
A singing wonder mocked the pain
My troubled heart had known.

By hope illumined, every thought
Became the thing I willed—
And one by one, as stars are born,
My dreams came back fulfilled.
—Helen Frazee-Bower, in New York Herald.

New Egyptian Flag Has Crescent and Three Stars

Hardly had the new minister from Egypt, Seifoullah Yousry Pasha, arrived in Washington and unfurled the Egyptian flag, consisting of a red field with three white crescents and three white stars, than word came from King Fouad that a new flag had been adopted. This new flag consists of a dark green field—the prophet Mohammed's color—bearing a white crescent and the three white stars. Of course, in an astronomical sense, it is impossible for stars ever to shine within the crescent of the moon as here shown, but it makes a handsome flag design.

Egypt's New Flag.

Buckskin From Tropics

Most of the buckskin used in gloves comes from Mexico, Central America and Brazil. The deer skins are small, often smaller than those of sheep, and in many cases skins are more or less faulty because of wounds or thorn scratches.

The latter do not weaken the gloves, however, and, in fact, the wale of a scratch is pretty good proof that a glove is genuine buck and not sheep dressed to imitate buckskin.

The leather is dressed in oil and the color is obtained with colored clay dust. Because of this method of coloring, every buckskin glove will dust off or crack the first three or four times it is worn. Buck leather is close fibered, soft after wearing, and warm.—Detroit News.

Mystery Mansion Passes

Chelsea's mystery house in London, for years a spot of morbid curiosity to bus passengers, is soon to be replaced by seven modern residential buildings. This old mansion contained a magnificently fitted bridal chamber, prepared for a wedding that never took place. The house was designed by the eccentric virtuoso, Doctor Phene, for his future bride who was taken by death on the morning of the wedding. The heart-broken bridegroom gave orders that the room be sealed up ever afterward, which it was until the doctor's death about twelve years ago. The mansion is being torn down.

North Pole and Compass

It was at first thought that the compass needle always pointed true north, but the geographic north pole has no influence on the compass; instead the instrument's north-seeking point is "attracted" by what is known as the north magnetic pole, a more or less indefinite spot in Boothia peninsula. Canada is some 1,200 miles south of the true pole. The behavior of the compass is accounted for by the fact that the earth acts like a great magnet. However, as the magnetic north pole is about 1,200 miles from the true pole, one sees that the earth is not regularly magnetized.—Detroit News.

Knowledge and Virtue

Cease from a too great desire of knowing; because there is found therein much distraction and deceit. Those who are learned are desirous of appearing and of being called wise. There are many things the knowledge of which is of little or no profit to the soul. And he is very unwise who attends to any things but what serve to his salvation. A multitude of words do not satisfy the soul; but a good life gives comfort to the mind, and a pure conscience affords great trust in God.

Turn About

"Real ladies now attend prize fights," remarked Mr. Meekton.

"Of course," answered his wife.

"Well, Henrietta, times have changed and I make no protest. But any afternoon you go to a prize fight I'll get myself a box of chocolates and a lace handkerchief and cry my eyes out at some matinee where they're showing the sorrows of a neglected husband."

Chenille Cloth Used for This Overblouse

Featured at a recent New York fashion exposition was this attractive overblouse made of chenille cloth.

Narrow Bands Used to Trim Center of Frocks

Narrow bands of solid color, often red bands of Chinese ribbon or Beauvais embroidery, are used to trim a frock down the center front and around the bottom. Nail heads on green leather combine admirably with black kasha or rep. Green quite outshines other colors this season and even competes with black.

A flat back is still the rule and aprons in every conceivable form trim the front. There are limitless possibilities where a combination of fabrics may be employed and thus with evening dresses the designer takes full sway of his imagination.

Two outstanding novelties among recent imports are worth noting and when well handled offer a suggestion and a possibility to one who wishes to add a very new note to a straight line frock of wool rep. The one is merely the application of rows of black cire braid, about three-quarter inches wide. Alternating stripes of the braid applied in parallel lines with stripes where the braid was interlined in simple basket weave emphasized the pencil silhouette. The other suggestion was an apron of fine braiding on georgette in the same tone as the dress itself. A plaiting of the georgette lined the cuff in mushroom style.

Sleeves, instead of being long and tight with a flare cuff, quite often reveal below the elbow beige chiffon or ecru lace and net as a sort of under sleeve, a puffing as it were, which is fitted in snugly at the wrist by a band of the fabric. Plaitings of net often insert themselves along the outside opening and from thence around the hand to break the severity.

Lace and Feathers Are Features of New Fans

There is always something new and artistic in fans. The most elegant fan seen among the Paris novelties is very large, with mother-of-pearl sticks and a platinum loop handle set with diamonds. The fan itself is covered with old-rose point lace, and at one side is fastened a spray of pale green ostrich feathers, the shade of which is mirrored in the pearl of the framework, which forms an oval as it opens.

Another fan in which one visualizes a grand dame of the Faubourg, is of medium size, opens in arch form, and is made of exquisitely fine chantilly lace upon a tortoise-shell frame. There is a tracing of fine gold on the outer ribs, the handle is of gold and the rivets are set with emeralds.

The handsome fans are not now covered with feathers, but have ostrich feather in sprays or delicate fringe interlaced with the covering, tracing a pattern or finishing the edge. These are fairy-like and fantastic, and add a whimsical note to the most elaborate evening toilet.

Many Bags and Cases for Stylish Dressers

It is good fun to follow the styles in bags and cases, the changes are so swift and the fancies so many. With some of his newest models in evening gowns and wraps a Paris maker has sent over an evening "vanity" of black moire, lined with orchid silk, which holds in addition to the usual toilet equipment a tiny pair of opera glasses. The clasp and fittings of this case are of gold.

A day-time bag from the same house is larger, of black moire with silver frame, and contains a place for spectacles or lorgnon, a comb for bobbed locks, and a coin purse. Another maker reverses the usual order and lines his silk purse bags with patent leather. Some of the largest bags for street dress are made of the pretty colored leathers, with the clasp and monogram upon a little flap in gold, silver or platinum.

Indians of Amazon Valley

War is the normal state of the Jibaro Indian of the Amazon valley, first, for the purpose of getting wives from neighboring or enemy tribes, second, for revenge of injuries inflicted upon relatives during wars, then for enemy heads that are supposed to bring good luck to the possessors because of the sacrifice of the victim to the devil. The heads of their enemies also become a source of income to these savage Amazonian tribes, since they are exchanged with traders for arms, ammunition, etc.

The skull is removed from the head of the decapitated enemy through a slit in the back from the neck up. The skin is then boiled to arrest putrefaction, after which it is dried and reduced in size by inserting hot stones the size of an orange. When the interior has been shrunk to the size of the stones hot sand is used to continue the process of drying and shrinking. After the process is completed, the head is hung up in the hut as a trophy and feasts are held in its honor. These miniature heads, retaining to a remarkable degree characteristic likeness to the living person, are in demand in the outside world—Detroit News.

Barrere & Nickerson,

Durum Wheats Are Spring Varieties

Differ in Adaptation and Yielding Ability and Resistance to Drought.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)
There are twelve varieties of durum wheat commercially grown in the United States. They differ in their adaptation and yielding ability, resistance to drought and rust, and in the quality of their grain, as well as in their appearance. They are all described by J. Allen Clark and John H.
Martin of the United States Department of Agriculture in Farmer's Bulletin 1304, "The Durum Wheat," just published.

The durum wheats are all spring varieties with thick, compact heads, long stiff beards and large hard kernels.
They are grown principally in the northern Great Plains area, where they are best adapted because of their resistance to drought and rust, which enables them to outyield other spring wheats. During the past ten years the center of the durum acreage has moved northward and westward.

Used for Granular Flour.
Most of the durum varieties have white (amber) kernels, and the grain is used chiefly for the manufacture of a granular flour called semolina, from which macaroni, spaghetti and other allimentary pastes are made. There usually has been an active foreign demand for this wheat, but the flour mills in this country were not equipped for satisfactorily grinding these wheats and there was little demand for the product on the domestic market. More recently, however, large mills have been constructed for grinding durum wheat exclusively. A considerable trade in semolina and durum flour has developed, and finally a large macaroni industry has been established.
The industry now uses annually more than 20,000,000 bushels of durum, or nearly half the average annual production in recent years.

Kubanka is High Yielding.
Kubanka is the variety best adapted for all the varying conditions in the sections producing durum wheat.
It is a high-yielding wheat, considerably resistant to rust, of good milling quality, and best adapted for making both macaroni and bread.

Acme and Monad are two similar durum varieties which are very resistant to stem rust. Acme is the highest yielding durum variety in most of South Dakota, and Monad the best yielding variety in North Dakota. Both produce macaroni of a grayish color, considered by manufacturers less salable than that made from Kubanka wheat. Mindum is the most productive variety in Minnesota.

The distinguishing characteristic and the adaptation of the twelve different varieties are discussed in the bulletin, which may be had free of charge from the United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

Difficulties in Getting Good Start of Alfalfa

There are a few difficulties in the way of getting a good start of alfalfa in the spring, and when these are guarded against it is easier than to get red clover started. It is of but little use to seed alfalfa on land which is sour in both surface and subsoil, and even then it is risky until limestone has been applied. Alfalfa can secure the same food from humus as from limestone, but it can get it from the humus only as the humus decays, and during the dry part of the summer the humus may cease to decay sufficiently to supply enough food, and the alfalfa perishes. If plenty of limestone is present the alfalfa may secure the same kind of food even when the humus does not decompose.

New and Effective Way to Protect Cucumbers

A new and effective method of controlling the striped cucumber beetles is recommended by the entomology section of the Iowa experiment station.
This method consists of dusting the young cucumber plants with a material made of one part of calcium arsenate and twenty parts of gypsum. Plants should be kept thoroughly protected by frequent applications of this dust. This method has been found more effective than the old method of spraying the vines with lead arsenate. The calcium arsenate acts as a poison and the gypsum stimulates plant growth.

Dwarf Essex Rape Best
All-Round Forage Crop

Dwarf Essex rape is one of the best all-round crops to grow for hog forage to take the place of or supplement the more permanent crops like clover and alfalfa. It is good for calves, cattle and horses but particularly adapted to hogs and sheep. It is a good emergency crop which can be sown as early as the ground can be worked or may be put in any time up to the last of July.

Thrash Soy Beans With Common Grain Separator

Soy beans may best be threshed with the grain separator, according to the farm crops authorities of the Iowa experiment station. The grain separator does just as satisfactory work as a regular bean huller when a few changes have been made to reduce the speed of the cylinder.

ENTHUSIASM NEEDED

Rev. Fr. J. F. Cox of St. Patrick's Catholic church in Pittsburgh, Pa., believes that the enthusiasm of the American Legion, permeating national life will bring about increased efficiency in business and idealism.

In speaking to the business men's branch of the American Legion in the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce, recently, he said:

"If you soldiers of the American Legion would get into civic life with as much ambition and enthusiasm as you did in the World war, the spirit of co-operation, business and idealism would rise in great percentage."

CHIEF INTEREST IN DISABLED VETERANS

To make disabled men in hospitals satisfied the utmost in service should be theirs. This is the attitude assumed by the American Legion auxiliary, under direction of the national chairman of the rehabilitation committee, Dr. Helen Hughes Hielscher of Minnesota.

Doctor Hielscher's interest in disabled veterans began long before the war ended, when men began to drift back to the United States shattered in body and mind, to be cared for by the government until the Veterans' Bureau hospitals opened. She began her visits to these institutions early in 1920 and soon after closed her office in order to devote her whole time to these men.

J. A. Hielscher, her husband, had been called into service with the medical corps, and during this time, Mrs. Hielscher, herself a practicing physician, took charge of all his practice, which was heavy, particularly during the winter of 1917 and 1918 when the influenza epidemic was at its height. Mankato's physicians, where the Hielschers resided, were reduced one-third, and on Mrs. Hielscher fell a double share of duty.

During this time she organized a bureau of information for the families of service men of the community and served many hundreds of families in ways relating to war service.

On the return of her husband from service, and his resumption of practice, Doctor Hielscher resolved to devote vote all energy to the disabled men in the hospitals. In choosing the most efficient outlet for this effort, she joined the American Legion Auxiliary organized a unit, and was instrumental in bringing about organization of the Minnesota department. She was elected to the presidency of this department as soon as it received its charter, and is now a member of the "Aloha Presidents," an inner circle in the auxiliary, which counts as its members all first department presidents.

During the year that Doctor Hielscher served as department president, and the subsequent year as member of the national executive committee, she traveled about the state telling about the work of the auxiliary and endeavoring to increase the membership on an educational basis. During 1923 she was chairman of the department rehabilitation committee, and carried through many plans for relief of disabled veterans.

Doctor Hielscher is a firm believer in placing the veterans on their own responsibility and has provided many of the patients with interesting work, which is bringing about rehabilitation. Under her direction a revolving fund has been established from which disabled men, now on farm tracts, can borrow money for the purpose of stocking their farms, the same to be repaid without interest, and in payments extended over several years. Her principal conviction is that the disabled will never be properly rehabilitated until the state asserts its right over the federal government and appropriations are made to the states for the care of disabled. This, however, is not in accord with present recommendations of the Legion and the auxiliary.
